The O.T. Mining Corporation Announces its Vision for the Future

Basin, Montana – Executive Vice President of Corporate Development and Chief Financial Officer, Gary F. Brozowski, recently completed his review of The O.T. Mining Corporation's ("O.T." or the "Company") assets, operations and mineral potential and has provided management with the Company's new strategic vision to better align the Company with its current and future shareholders.

Mr. Brozowski states, "In the beginning the initial reasoning behind an investment in the Company's shares was the gold and silver potential of the Ruby Mine area of the Property. However, as the major mining companies left the area due to poor market conditions, O.T. rushed in, picked up their claims and had new geological and geophysical reports completed. Attention then shifted to the enormous potential of the large copper porphyry system located in the northern portion of the Property, perhaps to the detriment of the original focus on gold and silver. I believe that the Company should refocus its efforts on the exploration and potential production of the precious metals at the Ruby Mine as well as the other targets on the Property while it continues to evaluate options regarding the porphyry."

O.T. is presently having its technical team review all of the existing data in order to make a determination and provide an overall cost/benefit analysis for the potential re-opening of the existing mine and for the exploration and further delineation of the gold/silver targets. Mr. Brozowski continues by saying "In this environment of high precious mineral prices, how can you not take advantage of this opportunity to bring the Company into possible production? Additionally, O.T. is no longer satisfied with delineating a resource just to let a major mining firm come in and scoop it up for a fraction of its true value. We are a mining company and we will mine wherever we find an economic resource..... the shareholders have been heard." The Company is also presently evaluating several financing opportunities and will continue to seek the capital needed to fund the gold, silver and copper exploration and mining program.

O.T. is a U.S. junior exploration company whose assets consist of 100% ownership (less a 3% net smelter royalty) of the 21.3 square mile Ruby Property located in Jefferson County, Montana. The Property covers 21.3 contiguous square miles and is host to precious gold and silver and multiple base metals - copper, lead, zinc, cobalt and molybdenum.
